ALBERTA'S POPULATION IS NOW ABOUT 320,000

In Four Years it has Almost Doubled and the Province is Already Within Striking Distance of the Mark Which the Government with its Recently Announced Immigration Policy is Aiming at —Dominion has 7,350,000 People—Important Census Bureau Bulletin

Ottawa, Jan. 6.—A census department estimate of the population of Canada by provinces at the end of the last fiscal year, March 31st, is as follows:
Maritime Provinces ..... 1,037,112
Quebec ..... 2,088,461
Ontario ..... 2,610,026
Manitoba ..... 466,208
Saskatchewan ..... 341,521
Alberta ..... 273,859
British Columbia ..... 289,516
Unorganized districts ..... 58,309
Since March 31st the immigration has totalled approximately 150,000, of which about 100,000 have gone to western Canada. The total population of the Dominion at the end of the year is therefore estimated at about 7,350,000. No accurate data of the distribution of immigrants in the individual maritime provinces is available. Since the date of the last census and the estimate of population is based on the general figures as to the number of immigrants who have settled in the east and on an estimate of the rate of natural increase, the increases as compared with the population in 1906 are as follows:

Maritime Provinces ..... 143,159
Quebec ..... 430,563
Ontario ..... 436,078
Manitoba ..... 211,057
Saskatchewan and Alberta ..... 456,440
Unorganized districts ..... 6,400
It is certain that at least 40,000 of the 100,000 that have come to western Canada since March 31, have settled in Alberta. This, with the natural increase, would make the population of the province at present at least 320,000. At the special census of 1906 it was 186,000. The provincial government recently decided to inaugurate an immigration policy for the next year with the object of bringing the population up to the 400,000 mark by the time of the decennial census of April, 1911. If this is obtained, there will be a large increase in the Dominion indemnity.
The above dispatch indicates that we are now within striking distance of that figure.

ALBERTA A GREAT COUNTRY

The Homesteaders Reap a Winter in Addition to a Summer Harvest

PEMBINA MAN'S FUR CATCH

Brought a Total of $2,398 When Purchased by W. H. Jager—Some Handsome Figures

A winter as well as a summer harvest is enjoyed by many a homesteader in the Edmonton district. The summer harvest is in the growing of grain, but in winter the homesteader goes out with trap and gun and reaps a harvest of furs.

Scarcely a day passes in Edmonton but what the fur dealers receive large consignments of furs such as muskrat, fox, lynx, weasel, bear, coyote and beaver. From the small boy on the farm to the old wrinkled half-breed trapper, all are at it this winter, with the result that quantities of furs and good prices have run the revenues in many cases to very handsome figures.

Muskies which used to be sold for a song are now in great demand and bring as high as 50 cents per skin in good-sized lots. Thousands are being brought into Edmonton daily. Lynx are bringing from $20 to $30 a piece, as shown by the sale this week of nine lynx skins for $270. Even coyote skins are worth from $9 to $10 a piece. The dealers are all after the furs and are coming through with the fancy prices.

The purchase this week by W. H. Jager, representing Joseph Wolman of St. Paul, of the fur catch of A. D. Henderson of Pembina, shows what money the trappers are making. The furs were sold in competition to two lots and brought a total of $2,398. The bids on the two lots were as follows:

Lot No. 1—
Joseph Ullman ..... $986.00
Revillon Bros. .... 934.15
Caruthers ..... 945.10
North-West Hide & Fur Co. 993.60
Lot No. 2—
Joseph Ullman ..... $1412.00
Revillon Bros. .... 1402.00
Caruthers ..... 1405.30
North-West Hide & Fur Co. 1659.90
The fur catch consisted of a fine assortment of rats, lynx, bear, marten, skunk and ermine.

BROKE UP THE LYNCHING

A Woman Stepped in and Saved Victim's Life in Wisconsin

Kenosha, Wis., Jan. 6.—Armed with a shotgun and knife, Mrs. Sarah Andell, keeper of a boarding house at Ice Cutting camp at Ewin Lakes, cowed a mob of men and cut the rope with which Sam Roberts, cook at the camp, had been hanged to a raft in the ice house by the mob, according to District Attorney Baker. Roberts' life was saved, although three ribs were broken and he was a mass of bruises. Mrs. Andell, after she had cut down the hanging man, screamed for aid and an open fight followed between Roberts' friends and the men who had sought to lynch him. Roberts' friends won and dragged the unconscious man to safety. Roberts, it is reported, was accused of procuring the discharge of several union men.

NEW MOLSONS BANK

Plans are in Course of Preparation for Handsome Building

Manager Swaisland of the Molsons Bank informed The Capital this morning that plans for the new bank building are now being rapidly prepared by Architect Magoon.
"The plans will call for a three-story building which will seem like a storey," said Mr. Swaisland. "The first story will be faced with stone and will have a twenty-foot ceiling. As soon as all the details of the plans are prepared tenders will be called for and the work undertaken at once."

The bank will be built on the property just east of the Empire Building, where Dodge's Bakery and a butcher shop now stand. Notice will be given that these places of business are to be cleared away by the first of April. If this is done and the work advances as rapidly as we expect, the bank staff will occupy their new quarters by September 1st.

Clerk in City Solicitor's Office in Winnipeg is Missing

Winnipeg, Jan. 6.—Walter W. Magee, clerk in the city solicitor's office, is missing from the city, and a shortage has been discovered in his accounts.

LIVES LOST IN SASKATCHEWAN

As a Result of the Severe Weather There on New Year's Day

WEYBURN SHERIFF MISSING

Went for Drive into Country on Holiday—Three Little Children Caught in Blizzard—Alberta Escaped Wholly

Regina, Sask., Jan. 6.—News of the toll exacted by last Friday's storm in dead and suffering continues to come to hand. The storm appears to have been very severe along the S. line and many casualties are reported. These include a homesteader who was frozen to death on New Year's day, south of Roylton; a man named Clark of Lang, Sask., who perished while driving a load of hay from his farm eight miles south of the town; three little children living south of Yellow Grass, going from their father's place to the home of their grandparents, two miles distant. "They were caught in a blizzard and when found by a search party the young boy was dead with the two sisters huddled in the snow beside him. Fear is also entertained with regard to the safety of Sheriff A. V. Whitehead of Weyburn, who left to drive in the country New Year's day and has not since been heard from. Mounted Police are now searching for the sheriff.

Alberta escaped the severe weather which Manitoba and Saskatchewan were suffering from, almost wholly. The lowest temperature registered in this province was eight below, as compared with 49 in Qu'Appelle and 36 in Winnipeg.

ANOTHER RAP FROM SHAW

English Dramatist Comments on What Judge Said in Shirtwaist Maker's Case

New York, Jan. 6.—Geo. Bernard Shaw has taken another rap at America. By request of two of the leaders of the striking shirtwaist makers he has replied to the decision given in December by Justice Olmstead against a strike. "I know you are not working and on strike," said Justice Olmstead. "You are on strike against God and Nature whose prime law it is that man shall earn his bread by the sweat of his brow. You are on strike against Shaw's reply received today by cable follows: "Delightful mediaeval! America always in the intimate personal confidence of the Almighty." (Sgd.) George Bernard Shaw."

PAID IN PENNIES

Amusing Incident of the Shirt-waist Makers' Strike in New York

New York, Jan. 6.—The four striking shirtwaist makers who were fined $25 collectively today for their activities in picketing paid their fines in pennies. It took the entire clerical force of the court nearly half an hour to count the pennies, while the girls looked on in amusement.

HORSEWHIPPED THE EDITOR

A Company's Attorney Objected to Certain Structures Made Upon Him

Deadwood, S.D., Jan. 6.—Former Congressman Freeman Knowles, editor of a Socialist weekly paper, was publicly horsewhipped today at a meeting of the board of county commissioners by Chambers Keller of Lead, attorney for the Homestead Mining Company. Keller entered the room and told Knowles that he would not submit to his vituperations about him in Knowles' paper, and proceeded to whip him after asking him to remove his glasses.

CANADA IS TRUE AND LOYAL

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Speaks at Banquet in Toronto on Dominion's Naval Policy

NO BASIS TO GERMAN SCARE

It Would be Madness to Attack Britain—No Desire for Aggrandizement in this Country

Toronto, Jan. 6.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the banquet held at the Ontario Club last night said:

"The Parliament of Canada has declared unanimously that the time has come when Canada should bear her share of the burden of the defence of the Empire. There are questions of the security of commerce, the protection of our own coasts and the warranty which our actions would give of trying to secure the peace of the world, because all nations know that we do not desire any aggrandizement and do not seek any other than the defence of our own interests. This is what we meant when we unanimously resolved on forming the nucleus of a Canadian navy."

He declared that all talk about Germany's alleged desire for aggrandizement at the expense of Great Britain was without any real foundation in fact, and that even if it were Britain was so powerful on the sea and land that it would be madness to attack her. Canada, at any rate, would be true and loyal to Britain.

TWO BURNED TO DEATH

SENATE HOTEL PLANS

Tenders are Being Called for and Contract will Soon be Let

Plans for the new Senate Hotel to be erected this spring on the northeast corner of Clara street and Fraser avenue, are now in the Builders' Exchange office where tenders are being called for.

"As soon as the contracts can be let steps will be taken at once to prepare for the construction of the hotel," said Proprietor Macdonald to The Capital this morning. "The new hotel will have dimensions of 100x66 feet, and will have about 60 rooms. It will cost $40,000 when completed."

SEWAGE DISPOSAL IS A LARGE PROBLEM

Extensive Plans Which are Now Under Consideration by Edmonton Civic Officials for the Extension of the System—The Present Outlets—A Disposal Plant an Early Necessity—First Mains Laid in 1902—How Development has Gone on Since Then ARTICLE VI.

You may say what you like about the importance of the various public utilities, but when it's all said, the fact remains that the question of sewage disposal is one of the most important that a city the size of Edmonton has to face. If it is important to a city of 20,000 it is all the more so to a city of 50,000 and when a city reaches a population of 100,000 the value of a well-planned and efficiently working scheme is all the more apparent.

An article on the sewage system of Edmonton is very timely in view of the plans which are now being constructed in the office of the city engineer. These plans outline the extensions which the city will be likely to require for the next twenty years and what is more important, consider the question of sewage treatment, which even now requires almost immediate attention. If the emptying of the sewage into the Saskatchewan River were to be all there was to it, the problem would be quite simple.

There is, however, the two fold problem, that of concentrating the sewage of the city at one point and the treatment of it so that the public health is not endangered. The consigning of sewage to the river is certainly not to be tolerated for long.

CHANCE FOR LIBRARY SITE

Option about to Expire on Valuable Howard Street Property

If the Library Board, appointed under the Provincial Library Act, wishes to secure the property on the northwest corner of Rice and Howard street a move had better be made very soon.

The Capital learned this morning that the option secured several months ago on this property will expire within a week. Under the option the Library Board may acquire 100 feet on Howard street and 100 feet on Rice street for the sum of $25,000. The property is owned by Geo. Hutton and John Kelly.

K. W. McKenzie, a member of the Board, is convinced that the property is the most desirable that can be found and that it should be purchased. 12 1/2 blocks the location is very central and yet sufficiently retired from the noise of the city traffic. As compared with other sites, such as one on McDougall avenue and on the High School grounds, he thinks that it has everything in its favor. The High School property is good for a city park, but he does not see how it can serve the double purpose of a park and a library site.

"If anyone wished to donate a site to the city," said Mr. McKenzie, "they could not find a better one than where the option is held."

"The library building is to profit by a donation of $50,000 to $75,000 from Andrew Carnegie's library fund. This money can be secured on the condition that the city guarantees ten per cent. of the sum yearly for the maintenance of the institution."

The members of the Board who will require to get busy are Mayor Lee, Judge Beck, Louis Madore, K. W. McKenzie, Ross Palmer, J. Lundy and Rev. Dr. Riddell.

Mayor Lee and Ald. Armstrong will not leave on their trip to the east until the latter part of the month. They will visit several of the important cities with a view to getting valuable information in relation to municipal ownership of utilities.

Disposing of the Sewage.
The sewage system of Toronto, ever since its inception, has meant the placing of trunk sewers running south into Toronto Bay. The result has been that the water front has been turned into a cesspool. Now the city is considering the expenditure of $2,000,000 to construct intercepting sewers which will tap the numerous outlets into the bay and carry the sewage to a disposal plant where it will undergo treatment. With this scheme completed nothing but the storm drainage will be carried into the bay and the cause of contamination of the water will be removed.

Edmonton stands in need of a sewage disposal plant in the near future. (Continued to page five.)

DO WE HAVE TO BE BRIBED TO BE LOYAL?

The speech delivered by Mr. Roblin, premier of Manitoba, which has been the subject of so many red-hot editorial articles in the Old Land, created more of a stir there than it did in Canada. After much search, we have been able to secure a report of what he did say and reproduce it elsewhere on this page.

Practically all leading Canadian politicians have remained neutral throughout the present British campaign, in so far as any public utterances go. This is as it should be. Those who are liable to be called upon to act as Canada's representatives in taking up matters of Imperial concern with British ministers, should not run the risk of being regarded by the latter as politically unsteady to them. For instance, suppose Sir Wilfrid Laurier should espouse the cause of Mr. Asquith and next year should participate in an inter-imperial conference, presided over by Mr. Balfour. His position, as a Canadian delegate, would be greatly weakened. The issues being fought out in Britain must be decided purely from the standpoint of the interests of the mother country. To introduce considerations of what Canada thinks is bound to do only harm to the imperial cause.

Mr. Roblin is not a member of the House at Ottawa, but he is liable to be at any time, and he has in the past taken a very active part in Dominion election campaigns. Accordingly, he was very ill-advised in using the language that he did. This is a view which we would take no matter which British party he provided election thunder for.

As to the actual opinions which he expressed, they serve to emphasize a misrepresentation to which Canadian public opinion has been subjected in the Old Land. The reference to 1776 lends decided color to the idea that unless Great Britain gives Canada a preference such a strain will be placed upon our loyalty that secession is apt to result.

The Toronto correspondent of the London Times, the other day, presented this view very baldly when he remarked that it was "pretty plain with its increasing preponderance of foreign population, the Canadian cannot be kept loyal to the empire unless it be given a bribe in the shape of a tax on the food of Britain."

No wonder a government paper in London makes the rejoinder that "this is imperial thinking which one may have to the standard people of Canada to characterize adequately."

How frequently the British electors have had this suggestion made to them is evident from a paragraph in one of Mr. Stewart Lyon's despatches to the Toronto Globe describing the political campaign in Great Britain. "I find," he says, "that the Lancashire feeling is quite general that the colonies are urging the taxation of food." This, he adds, does not make for the popularity of our (Canadian) products in the north of England, which is utterly opposed to food taxes, and not disposed to hold the Empire together in this way.

As all who have followed Canadian public opinion are aware, or should be, there is no demand for any such bribe as the price of our loyalty. The majority of the people of this country are impatient because they are profoundly attached to British institutions and all that they mean in the way of ensuring political liberty in the trust and fullest sense. Britain can adopt what trade policy she likes. It will not have the slightest effect on our desire to retain the privileges of the imperial connection and to discharge the duties which that connection involves. Canadians of every party should resent the inference which is taken from Mr. Roblin's speech and the use which it is put to in Britain. The whole idea of a bribe being necessary is inconsistent with any true conception of the meaning of the word loyalty.

WORK FOR MR. FRANCIS

Mayor Lee made the statement yesterday that Mr. Walter J. Francis, of Montreal, is expected to make a searching investigation into the management of the power plant and to take a general survey of all the public utilities of the city.

How may the expert enlighten Edmonton citizens?

Mr. Francis for one thing, might inquire whether goods going into the power house are examined as to weights and gallonage.

The Capital is informed that outside firms are given a preference in supplying oil over those who have large stores on hand in the city. Other things being equal, this gives the local dealer a substantial grievance.

But more serious charges than that of discrimination against local firms are being made. For one thing, the statement is heard that on a certain occasion, it was found that there had been a falsification of over $700 in connection with one shipment. This amount was, so our informant says, struck off the account rendered, but nothing further was done, the council not being informed as to the fact.

The Capital has no idea of making a newspaper investigation when the city has secured the services of a gentleman, who is said to be fully competent to take up this work and who should be in an excellent position to ferret out any incompetency or any dishonesty that may have crept into the administration of the city's utilities. What we want to show is that there are many nasty stories about it that the citizens are keenly interested in finding out how well founded they are. They will not be content with any mere generalizations.

What Others Say

EXPLANATION DESIRED

(Ottawa Free Press)

Regina is the capital of the province of Saskatchewan, the greatest wheat producing area in the British Empire. Yet a loaf of bread costs twice as much in Regina as it does in London or Liverpool or Glasgow, whence the wheat is shipped from Saskatchewan.

ASSURED A FOREMOST PLACE

(Pense, Sask., Argus)

The Edmonton Capital is the latest addition to western Canada's list of daily newspapers, and by its appearance of its first few issues it promises to hold its own with the best of them. It is a newspaper that is a newspaper from start to finish, and this, together with its good typographical appearance, will assure for it a foremost place in western journalism.

Brandon (Ont.) Expositor

The first number of the Edmonton Capital, of which Mr. A. B. Watt, formerly of this city, is the publisher, has made its appearance. The sheet gives every appearance that it has plenty of capital, not merely in name, but also in money, brains and staying power.

LOOKING AHEAD A FEW YEARS

Victoria Colonist

In less than five years from today the Canadian Northern will be completed. In less than five years the Grand Trunk Pacific will be finished. In about five years the Panama Canal will be completed. How many people will there be in Alberta in five years hence? How many people will there be in Interior British Columbia? The importance of these interesting things and of those equally interesting questions lies in the fact that in five years from now the trade of the Pacific coast of Canada will be revolutionized. Instead of having only one transcontinental line in the Dominion we will have three and possibly a fourth, for the V. V. E. with the proposed eastern connections may supply another. Instead of having to bring goods by water around the Horn or by way of San Francisco we can get them promptly and cheaply by way of the canal. Railway freights will then come tumbling. Mr. J. J. Hill realizes this and he is preparing the Great Northern so as to reduce all grades to a minimum and make all curves as easy as possible. The realization that freights must be reduced has led the Grand Trunk Pacific to seek to get as near a level grade as possible, and the Canadian Northern will do the same thing. With cheaper freights the trade to the coast will be revolutionized, and we can expect with good cause to supply a large part of the merchandise used on the prairies.

HON. R. P. ROBLIN'S UTTERANCE

Which has Caused so Much Discussion in British Newspapers

The English dispatches of the past few days show that the Unionists are making extensive use of a recent speech by Mr. Roblin, of Manitoba. It was delivered at the banquet of the Commercial Travellers' Association in Winnipeg, on Tuesday last week. The portion of the speech under discussion was as follows:

"I do not hesitate to say, and possibly I am encroaching on dangerous ground because I know that in matters pertaining to the domestic affairs of this country we are jealous and we resent interference by an outsider. I can realize and appreciate the delicacy of any reference to the conditions that obtain in the motherland, but as a man who loves the British flag and desires the continuation of the relations that exist at the present time, I think that we are justified in expressing our fears, and if possible, avoiding what might be a misfortune to us."

"The fact that one hundred thousands American people have come in here this year and that this number will be increased from year to year. If they realize that, by virtue of being British subjects they can get an acknowledgment, a recognition, from the motherland, that a citizen of another country cannot get, it will weld them to British institutions more effectively than if they can get no more from the British government than can a man from Austria, or Germany or Mexico."

"These are things dangerous, perhaps, for me to discuss but we can consider it from the standpoint of our desire to remain British. When in 1776 an indifferent parliament refused to consider the wishes of the colonies, it was too late when those colonies had withdrawn, and had been lost forever to the empire. "I speak for myself alone and because I desire myself and my country to remain British. We can wield a greater influence on the continent and we can develop more effectively under the British empire than under any other system. Therefore, we have a duty to perform, to educate our people along the line of the relations that we retain at the present time, and teach them wherein the progress and the glory of the past have been received and that from the same relations we have for even greater results in future."

A COLD CHRISTMAS.

Christmas Eve thirty years ago was the coldest in the history of Manitoba or the northwest, since records have been kept, the thermometer dropped to go below at the official station, though some registering several degrees more. So intense was the cold that the train from the south which ran between Emerson and St. Boniface, and which was bringing the Christmas mail for the isolated cities of Winnipeg had to be postponed. In the morning outside the old post office there was a string of people waiting in line like a row in front of a circus or box office, braving the intense cold in the hope of receiving mail that never came.

THE CARTOONS A FEATURE

More Fully Employed Than Ever Before in Present British Election Campaign

HELPEO OUT BY SONGS

Many Million Leaflets Being Scattered Broadcast—Gladstone Cited On Both Sides

Cartoons and posters are more freely employed in the present British election, than at any previous contest and some of them are indisputably clever.

A picture everywhere to be seen is a parody of the advertisement of a well known firm of tobacco merchants. It represents "McKenna's Navy Cut," and has in the middle of a circle composed of ship's cables the portrait of the First Lord of the Admiralty. Upon his cap are inscribed the words "H. M. S. Middle." His breast is tattooed with the words "The One Power Standard," and across the placard is written "Medium Strength, Extra Mild, to Suit Germany." A Tonic face is beaming like the sun over the seas in the background. The power exhorters the doctors to vote for the Unionist candidate and strong navy. In one of the posters issued by the Liberal Unionist Council, War Minister Haldane is shown as a sergeant on parade, with a deserted barracks "to let" in the background. He wears three medals, one inscribed "A present from Germany for False Economy," another "For winning General Election, 1906," another "To commemorate the loss of 50,000 men."

Another poster represents a man holding a budget, and asks "Where is the Man who promised me free food?" and another shows England covered by the black hand of Socialism, and declares that Socialism blows out religion, freedom, and family life in England.

The Dukes That Own the Air.

On the Liberal side one of the most effective cartoons is a picture of two dukes in scarlet and ermine looking aloft to where the Chancellor of the Exchequer is passing in his Budget aeroplane. The dukes are represented as shouting: "Hi, there! Come down—this is our air!" Another represents a ship in which are Lord Lansdowne and Mr. Balfour, labelled "The Tory Crew." The ship flies the black flag of protection, and from it is projected a plank which John Bull is represented as being made to walk. Another placard represents Mr. Bull as unable to proceed in the direction of popular control of education owing to a barricade erected by the peers and Mr. Balfour. A picture of a cricket match depicts Mr. Balfour as "bowled out." The wicket falling, Mr. Asquith, the bowler, inquires of the umpire: "How's that?" The umpire, Lord Lansdowne, replies, "Not out." Beneath the picture is written "What do you think of the Tory Lord of an empire, who never gives his own side out?" There is an effective picture of a peer looking into the glass. It is headed "The Peer Glass." Beneath it are the words, "Picture of a Peer consulting his constituents. Though it may be all very well for him to represent no one but himself, where do you come in?"

A working man is shown, in another placard, in conversation with a duke wearing his coronet. The duke declares: "If you demand your rights, no more crumbs from my table." The working man replies, "Give me my rights, and keep your crumbs." A picture, which is likely perhaps to be more telling than any of the others is one entitled "The Crown of Comfort," the crown, of course, having reference to the pension given to old people. Darby and Joan are seen outside an idyllic cottage looking on to a neat and well stocked garden, upon which the sun shines brilliantly. The Old Man: "I like this sunshine, my dear—it's a good lot better than the work-house!" The Old Lady: "Yes, this is a week pension (10s. a week for two of us), we old people get it through the Act passed by the Liberals."

The Election Songs.

Special songs sung to music improvised for the occasion are used to stimulate party enthusiasm on both sides. Here is a verse from one entitled "The Peers' Anthem," sung to one of Moody & Sankey's Hymn tunes:

Who is this lord that floats us
With gibes and jeers of scorn?
And his four hundred puppets,
Are they our masters born?
Upwells in threatening thunder
The nation's righteous wrath;
Let those beware that cumber
A free-born people's path.

Another song is sung to the tune of "Dye ken John Peel?"

Dye ken Lloyd George and his Budget bold,
When he's taking toll of the rich man's gold?
Dye ken Lloyd George and the tale that he's told
To the Tory crew in the morning?
For the Tories hearts are filled with dread
For they longed to tax the poor man's bread,
But their hopes and plans will all, all be dead,
When they go to the poll in the morning.

The Budget League, which has been established for the purpose of advocating the Budget in all parts of the Kingdom, has drawn up a large number of leaflets, of which no fewer than 9,000,000 have been issued during the last six months. This league, however, relies, rather upon meetings than upon literature or posters and pamphlets, and something like 3,500 meetings in support of the Budget have been held since the last part of June. It has prepared a small number of posters, one of the most striking represents Britannia as an attractive young woman bearing in addition to her trident, heavy chains labelled, "Labor Exchanges," "Education," "Old Age Pensions," and "Land Reform." Looking scornfully at a member of the House of Lords, clad in a red cloak trimmed with ermine, his hands deep in his trousers pockets, Britannia exclaims, "If you were half a man you would offer to carry some of these parcels!" The peer replies, "How can I with my hands in my pockets?"

Gladstone on Both Sides

It is interesting to note Mr. Gladstone is invoked on both sides in the controversy between the peers and the people. For example, Sir Francis Channing quotes him in his article "Mr. Gladstone and the Crisis of 1909" as saying in the debate on the repeal of the paper duty in 1860: "The question now raised is whether the power of revision which is exercised by the House of Lords in matters of legislation is likewise to be extended to finance and whether the function of the House of Commons in imposing or repealing taxes is to be divided as to its exercise and the responsibility which it involves, with the House of Lords. The whole rights of the House of Commons as they have been handed down to us constitute a sacred inheritance upon which I by my part will never voluntarily permit any intrusion or plunder to be made." Sir Francis adds that had Mr. Gladstone been here today he would have fought the issue against the Lords with a Berserker rage which might have carried all before it. On the other side, Lord Carson, Conservative peer and ex-Viceroy of India, in a clever speech at Oldham, cites the words of Mr. Gladstone in the House of Commons in July, 1857, which were as follows:

"When I look back on the course of legislation in this country, when I recollect the Corporation and the Test Acts, the bill for the admission of Roman Catholics to Parliament, the Reform Act, the Municipal Corporation Bill, the Bill for the Repeal of the Corn Laws, and the Navigation Laws, and the Succession Test Bill—when I remember that one and all of these have been accepted to sometimes with conscientious reluctance, but always in honorable and graceful concession on the part of the Lords to the wishes

A Lot of "Bargain Sales" Are Now Hatching in "The Opportunity Incubator!"

The mistakes of store-buyers in estimating the buying moods of the people—in forecasting the demands for certain kinds of goods—result in "store-congestion," a mercantile ailment that always requires ample publicity treatment for its relief. Thus are "bargains" created—and marketed. Thus it is that advertisers and answerers profit by the inevitable mistakes of fellow human beings.

In all the walks of life people are given to blundering—to "overstocking," to putting something, some personal contribution, into "the opportunity incubator." In the fulness of time the old incubator yields its prizes to those who wait and watch—who read and answer ads.

That's why the ads. are not only INTERESTING—as giving clues to phases of life both droll and tragic—but are so IMPORTANT, in that they hold for us, for each of us personally, some Pandora-box mystery, some unexpected bit of good luck.

MUGGSY MCGRAW SAYS THAT

He Will Have the Greatest Team Ever, in Little Old New York in 1910

A volley of questions fired at John McGraw, failed to disclose anything positive as to the many rumors now in circulation as to changes in the make-up of the Giants next season. The manager says he has not given much thought to base ball since the recent league meeting in this city and also states that for the present he is compelled to stand pat.

"But you can say that the New York club has not asked for waivers on Seymour," said McGraw with characteristic emphasis. "I do not know how that story originated. From Philadelphia, eh? Well, they are quite misguided over in that burg, you know! Well, it would be extremely foolishly to let Seymour out after the way he played last fall unless we could get a better man."

"No, I haven't any deals on just now. I talked with several persons during the league meeting in regard to possible trades, but we could not reach an agreement. I've got forty-five ball players on my staff, and I'm always ready to make a trade if it looks good to me, but you must remember there's always two sides to one of these swaps, and it's often that the other fellow wants more than you can afford to give up."

"I am not after Lammey of the Brooklyn. No, I don't intend to make an offer for him. There's nothing in the Donlin-Magee deal so far as I know. The Philadelphia club has changed hands since that proposition was under consideration, and I haven't thought of it since. Besides, I don't know any of the Philadelphia club people but Fogel, and I am uncertain whether Billy Murray will remain the manager."

"Are you satisfied to go along with Tenney or Merkle on first base?" McGraw was asked.

"Why, yes, if I can't get somebody better. There have been some good first basemen I'd like to have, you know, but they are not in the market. Tenney isn't all in yet however, and he may come back next season with a fine brand of ball. What about Raymond? Well, Raymond can answer that question better than I can. It's simply up to him, that's all. If he decides to take care of himself, he can pitch as well as anybody and under those conditions the Giants want him. But if he prefers to fool around in idleness that will be his own look-out."

"I've got two very clever young pitchers in Drucke and Klaitner from Texas. They showed plenty of skill on several occasions towards the end of last season when I tried them out and I think they will help us a lot. Marquard? Well, I'm going to keep him. He's only a kid and simply needs experience in fast company. He's got everything to make a great left hand pitcher and I'm sure he made no mistake in paying $11,000 for him. No, I never offered to trade Marquard to Cincinnati for Outfielder Reacher. It wouldn't be a good deal for us, in my opinion."

"No, I'm not worrying about the Giants for next season. I think we will have a pretty good ball team after the spring training trip is over. You never can tell much until you get the men in the field. Then conditions sometimes arise that produce results least expected. I'll not deny that some deals may be made between now and spring, but just at present you can say there's absolutely nothing doing in that line."

ALFIE SHRUBB GETS HIS

Is Finally Beaten at His Favorite Distance by Meadows of Guelph

Alfie Shrubbs, who has been sneering at Fred Meadows for over a year, finally decided to give the Guelph boy a race last evening. The result was terrible for Shrubbs, as the Canadian jumped into the lead at five miles and led to the finish. His time for the ten miles was 53:35. A large crowd was present and greeted the Canadian's victory with great enthusiasm, as Alfie Shrubbs is extremely unpopular in Horonto, mainly because he put the kibosh on Tom Longboat, their idol.

WILL BILLY GILMOUR PLAY

Ottawa Free Press Says Yes, But We Think He Will Not

"Efforts are being instituted to bring Billy Gilmour back to Ottawa to either play cover point or his old position on the right wing."

"The Ottawa Club is in communication with Billy this afternoon, and it is not improbable he will be here this winter."

"Billy is in the brokerage business in Montreal at the present time."

Says the Ottawa Free Press. In our humble opinion Ottawa will have a mighty hard time getting Billy into the game. Gilmour said when he got married last year, and started in Montreal as a stockbroker, that hockey was a thing of the past with him, and we believe what he said is true. Gilmour was without doubt one of the finest left wing players hockey has ever seen. He played Stanley Cup hockey at the age of sixteen and played mighty well, too. The Ottawa forward line then was Frank McGee, Dave Siddie and Billy Gilmour, and to see those men perform was a revelation. Then Bill went to Montreal to McGill University and took a hockey course. For four or five years he played on the team and still remained a freshman in college status. Billy never showed up to great advantage on the McGill team as the company was not fast enough for him, but all these years he was still a member of the Ottawa team, and participated in all their C.A.H.L. matches. In his last year at college he played with Frank Patrick on the Montreal Victoria, a team which was runner-up for the senior championship.

There was one time when Billy was the most talked-of man in the hockey world. When Rat Portage made their first trip for the Stanley Cup, McGee and Gilmour said they were through with hockey for good, and remained out of the game for the rest of the season. The challenge was by a 3 to 9. There was consternation in Ottawa, and the greatest pressure was brought to bear on the two stars to turn out. Finally McGee consented, but Bill, who was in Montreal, remained firm. On the day between the games Siddie Gilmour, or Dick Shillington made the trip to Montreal and worked with Bill all day, but there was nothing doing. He had made up his mind and wouldn't give in. Finally they said, "Well, come down to the station and see us off anyway." Billy went down, and when the train started to move off for Ottawa he was forcibly pulled on board and carried to the capital.

The news that he was coming was wired by the genial Dick Shillington, and when Gilmour arrived he found himself a hero. Frank McGee then got hold of him and the result was the two great forwards, along with Alf Smith and Harry Westwick, composed the forward line for the next two games and saved the cup for Ottawa.

But Billy Gilmour will not play this year or we are pretty far wrong in our guess.

"We are pretty far wrong in our guess."

OH! WHAT A SCORE!

The Stanley Cup Holders Handed Galt a Prize Package—Twelve to Two

Special to The Capital. Ottawa, Jan. 6.—The first Stanley Cup game of the season resulted in a decisive victory for Ottawa. The score was, Ottawa 12, Galt 3.

The Galt team, which was very weak, proved a poor drawing card. The attendance was only 2000. The game throughout was marked with a very little rough play, and only a few penalties were imposed by Referee Bowie. The Ottawa team played poor Stanley Cup hockey compared with last year's team.

Ottawa missed Taylor and Kerr. Galt apparently is not used to the large arena yet. Lake and Walsh starred for Ottawa, the latter scoring five of Ottawa's goals.

Art Ross, Frank and Lester Patrick of Renfrew team closely watched the players throughout the game. Barney Holden, Bellamy, Tommy Dunderdale of Montreal Shamrocks, the ex-Winnipeg Shamrock player, was also an interested spectator of Ottawa's first game.

For about ten minutes the game resembled a contest, but then Ottawa got really going, and the forward line began to run up the score. The half-time score was 7 to 2, and the cup holders took things easily in the second half. Ridpath, Shore, and Malen showed up well and last night's team will probably represent Ottawa all season as it is unlikely Kerr will be strong enough to play.

EDDIE GEBHARD DEFEATS SUTTON

Eddie Gebhard, the diminutive Buffalo crack, pulled out one of the hardest match games of his career last week against Larry Sutton of Rochester, the A.B.C. champion, for a purse of $300. The match was a series of twenty-one games, the roller having to win the majority or eleven. The first game was played in Rochester early in the week, Sutton, who, by the way, uses a loaded ball, winning out eight of the eleven games. This only made it necessary for him to land three at Buffalo, which made it a black looking proposition for Gebhard, but Eddie was equal to the task, he winning eight out of ten, for an average of 214 2-5, his ninth game being a 267 score. The scores are as follows:

Sutton—186, 203, 218, 205, 227, 209, 212, 195, 198. Total—2248. Average, 204 4-11.

Gebhard—177, 190, 153, 206, 247, 181, 175, 200, 211, 214, 170. Total—2127. Average—193 4-11.

Gebhard—200, 245, 185, 196, 191, 214, 212, 205, 207, 235. Total—2144. Average, 214 2-5.

Sutton—173, 213, 245, 177, 177, 184, 192, 192, 171, 189. Total—1893. Average, 180 3-5.

Monday night in the Central Alberta League Lacombe and Stettler played on Lacombe ice and the home team won by 4-3 in a hard game. This was the first league game at Lacombe. L. G. Beatty, of Lacombe, acted as referee, while W. H. Moffatt, of Stettler, was judge of play. The teams lined up as follows:

JOE HALL IS FOUND

The Lord Chesterfield of Hockey is Unearthed at Brandon—Is Leaving for East

The mysterious bad man of hockey has been found, and right at his old stomping ground, Brandon. The other evening the Shamrocks played the old timers of that city, and gentle Joseph was on the line-up of the ancients. A despatch says Hall played a clean game and showed occasional flashes of his old-time form. We suspicion that the old war horse Joe wrote the dispatch himself. He was never known to play a clean game.

On top of this comes another report that says Joe Hall is leaving for Montreal. His contract calls for $1,000 for the season and travelling expenses down and back. This can't be to play hockey. The only way Joe can make $4,000 in Montreal, is grafting on the police force. Joe would fit in well with Constable Piar, Sergt. Beauchamp and the other French bibles on the force who spend most of their time beating McGill students into a state of insensibility. Joe's experience wielding a hockey stick would stand him in good stead. Four thousand dollars! Pool! Pool!

PROPOSITION FROM FARMERS

They Indicate How Manitoba Should go About Obtaining Government Elevators

COMMISSION RECOMMENDED

Three Members to Hold Office for Life and Good Conduct—Premier Promises Consideration

Winnipeg, Jan. 6.—The committee of the Manitoba Grain Growers' Association appointed to co-operate with the government in drawing up a plan of government ownership of interior elevators, presented a memorandum to the cabinet yesterday of their recommendations.

The provincial government, it was proposed, would assume the responsibility of providing for the finances to either purchase the existing elevators or the build a new system. The cost either way was placed at three million dollars.

The elevators, it was proposed, should be made self-sustaining. The following charges, the grain growers figured, would provide sufficient revenue: One and three-quarter cents per bushel for receiving, cleaning and storing wheat; one cent for barley, oats and a half cents for barley, two and two cents for flax, for the first fifteen days, with an additional charge of one-thirtieth of a cent per day afterwards.

The committee in their memorandum recommended that there be an elevator commission in charge, consisting of three members to be appointed by the Manitoba Grain Growers' Association and the government. Their terms of office would be for life consistent with efficient administration and good conduct. Suggestions are made as to methods of dismissal if necessary.

Method of Valuation.

The work of the commission is also outlined. If the elevators of the province can be bought, a method of valuation is suggested. If the present owners refuse to sell, then the commission should proceed to build a new system.

Elaborate recommendations are made in the memorandum as to the handling of the grain after the government elevator system is established. Methods of securing samples and of controlling weights are suggested. A plan of providing for what is known as street grain is also outlined. It is also suggested that there be a number of travelling inspectors appointed by the commission to supervise the working of the elevators. Daily reports from the operators of each elevator would be sent to the head of the commission.

The memorandum also suggests the inauguration of a system of promotion for employees and the establishment of a pension fund.

It was proposed that the chairman of the commission should receive eight thousand and each of his two assistants six thousand annually. Premier Roblin replying to the special committee said the government would take the scheme into consideration and before a definite plan would be arrived at before the legislature meets in a few weeks.

THE FINLANDERS DEATH

The United Aids May Take Action in Connection With it

A special meeting of the executive of the United Aids Society is called for tonight to decide on what action will be taken in connection with the death of Joe Anderson in the Grand View Hotel on Friday night.

The Society wishes to draw attention to the clause in the Liquor Ordinance which sets forth that in the event of a person under the influence of drink sustaining an injury on licensed premises, the next of kin or any person acting on their behalf may enter an action at law and claim a maximum damage of $1,000 and the licenses of both barman and proprietor are liable to be forfeited.

As this is the second time that a death has occurred on licensed premises in the city, the United Aids Society has been approached by a deputation and urged to take action on behalf of the deceased Finlanders.

Mr. Barney Torrance of the Bank of Commerce returned to town yesterday from a month's visit with his parents in Winnipeg.

When the baseball fans of a city the size of Indianapolis buy $50,000 worth of peanuts in one season, the futility of reform agitation along that line is obvious. We shall have to make the best of the hawking affliction, and consider it a part of the game.

So far Roger Bresnahan is the only club manager in the big leagues that has come clean with his predictions for next season. Roger says his outfit is unspeakably rotten and that he doesn't expect much from it.

To oblige the sporting public, will Renfrew please make a New Year's Resolution (with a big "R") to cut it out?

Renfrew says "The Stanley Cup." Halseybury suggests "The Garden of Dreams."

Perhaps by next June the hockey public will know how matters stand. It is just as bad to say "Renfrew" in polite Ottawa society as to come out with a great big D—n.

Corwall, Ont., Jan. 2.—A. McMillan, well known hockey player of Cornwall, Belleville and a year or two ago, the Copper Country, left today for Ottawa to take a position with the Stanley Cup defenders. McMillan, in condition, has proven himself one of the fastest and cleverest exponents of the game in Canada. What a shame to bring poor Reddy McMillan to life again. As a hockey player Red is just about ripe for chloroform.

"A counter move has now been started to hold Fred Taylor in Ottawa. Some of Fred's team mates stated this morning they would subscribe $100 each in aid of making up the guarantee amount Taylor would necessarily forfeit to the Renfrew club if he declined to go to the Creamery town." This is the first occasion Ottawa pros. have ever offered to give up money. Call their bet, Mr. Bate and see them crawl.

The absence of Taylor however, detracted from the spectacular feature of the work-out. The rail birds will miss the "cyclone" rushes that have made the Ottawa practices so interesting in the past. There were at least five hundred spectators out last night, but they were as quiet as a funeral.—Free Press.

Young Gordon Roberts was tried out in the vacant position on the defence last night, and made a very favorable impression. He played point to Fred Lake's cover, though it was practically a double point system they were playing.—Free Press.

The latest information in the matter, however, came to light last night when it was announced that the Renfrew club holds a certified cheque for $1,000 signed by Taylor as a guarantee of good faith. If it is true and both clubs insist on holding him to his contracts, it looks as if he himself would be the sufferer.

Cobalt was defeated last evening in Montreal by the New Canadian team of that city by a score of 7 to 6. The score was 6-6 until a few minutes before time was up, when the home team nosed out a victory.

GALE ON NOVA SCOTIA COAST

Serious Loss of Life Feared Through Boats Being Carried Out to Sea

TODAY'S DESPATCH CHEERING

Several of Missing Craft Made Shore Last Night and Others Were Sighted by Them

Halifax, Jan. 5.—A sudden blizzard that swept down from the north yesterday morning carried out to sea twenty fishing boats belonging to Canso, Whitehead and Dover, and to night, after thirty hours' search, eight boats with thirty four and fifty men are missing. Hope that any of these men are now alive has been abandoned.

During all this time the thermometer has been hovering around zero, and last night the poor fellows in open boats on the icy sea had to endure the rigors of an atmosphere at from six to eight degrees below zero. The weather was fearful in its severity and fierceness. Rough and rugged as the hardy fishermen who had to face it, not one of them still on the sea could long survive it, and death would soon become welcome. A tug, government and other steamships have been searching all day and tonight when darkness settled down, eight boats, manned by forty or fifty men, were not accounted for. Four of these boats belonged to the village of Whitehead, their crews numbering twenty men, and four are from Dover, with fifteen men. The stricken villagers are in despair. Wives and children hardly dare hope ever again to see their husbands and fathers. The weather today has been almost as terrible to the men exposed to it as the night before. To add to it a heavy northwest wind with a thick snow, which made their work more difficult and increased the terrible plight of its victims, if they still lived.

Gale Sweeps Coast.

Yesterday morning opened with fair weather and a fleet of twenty-five boats manned by 100 men put out for Haddock. Suddenly it changed, and so swiftly that it was next to impossible for all to get back in the teeth of the gale, of the twenty-five boats all but eight were able to beat their way back or find refuge in other ports, or hold out until picked up to day. But eight of them are gone, and more than forty men are almost certainly either frozen to death in drifting boats or drowned from the craft being unable to do anything, and Whitehead is mourning the loss of nineteen men, and the death toll of Dover standing at twenty-two. Fifty-one men are missing tonight.

Boats Make Shore.

Halifax, N.S., Jan. 6.—There is now thought to be no loss of life from the fishermen carried to sea on Tuesday by the gale. Several missing boats made shore last night and report sighting others making for shore.

SEWAGE DISPOSAL IS A LARGE PROBLEM

So says the city engineer and so says the provincial sanitary engineer. At present there are three outlets to the sewer mains of the city. One empties into the river at the foot of Saskatchewan avenue. Another is carried east on Jasper avenue to the ravine which it runs to septic tanks at the north end of Fraser's Flats, from where it is discharged into the river. A third empties into Rat creek behind the Isolation Hospital and meanders down the creek for a mile or so into the river. Were it not for this discharge the creek would be dry for the greater part of the year. This state of affairs is not to be continued in a city which is calculated to double its population before many years. The city engineer's department is alive to the needs of the situation and has elaborated a scheme on a twenty year basis. It is proposed to carry the Rat creek sewer eastward to a point where there is sufficient space for the installing of a large sewage disposal plant. It may not be necessary to have it installed for the first year but it will be fully incorporated in the general sewage scheme and will be kept in view during the extension of all sewer mains in the city in the future. It is the intention of the city engineer to give the septic tanks on Fraser's Flats a fair trial this year, so that the engineering department may have some experience in the treatment of sewage before elaborating on the larger scheme. So extensive is the plan that it is probable that a consulting engineer will be called in shortly to pass his judgment upon it.

The First Sewers.

It was in 1902 that Willis Chipman, then city engineer, laid the first sewer and water mains in Edmonton. In that year he installed four miles of sewerage system which comprised the present central business area of the city. The discharge was made into the Saskatchewan directly in the rear of the Queen's Hotel. By the close of 1905 there was a total of 1098 miles. This increased from year to year with an additional 261 miles in 1906, 1138 miles in 1907, 913 miles in 1908, and 77 miles in 1909, making a total of 4187 miles of sewer pipe at present reposing under Edmonton's streets.

Three sub-systems go to make up this mileage. The first and earliest is that which serves the district east of First street and south of the railway tracks taking in a large part of the business area. This formerly discharged into the river at the foot of Namayo avenue, as stated above, but the trunk line was carried east on Jasper in 1908, when the septic tanks on Fraser's Flats were installed. A second system serves the south western part of the city and is carried along Saskatchewan avenue to the river outlet. The third is the Rat Creek system which draws its sewage from the north and extreme west of the city. The 77 miles of construction this year contributed to the Rat Creek division of the system as the extensions were made west of Twenty-first street and in Norwood subdivision.

All sewer construction from the time of Chipman to the year 1906 was done by day labor. In 1906 the contract for the Rat Creek sewer was let to the

E. J. Taylor Co. The company requested to be relieved of its undertaking and the completion was made in 1907 by the Canada White Co. on a ten per cent basis. This meant that a cost price for the work was estimated and ten per cent added, which the company was to receive. Should the work be done at less than the estimated cost, the company was to get the benefit of half the saving. It is understood that a considerable saving in the cost of the job was effected. With the exception of this contract and the trunk line of the east and subway system, which was done by Westway & Manders, all the work has been done by day labor.

Which is better, contract work or day labor in sewer construction? It seems that in theory day labor is the better, but it is not always so in practice. However, for the past two years in Edmonton, day labor is said to have been more satisfactory than contract work, but this is claimed to be due to the trained gang which the city has accumulated. At all events, the cost of work done during the past year by day labor has compared very favorably with the cost under contract. In other words, money has been saved for the city.

Some idea of the construction work required can be gathered from the depth at which sewer pipes are placed. Some of the trunk sewers reach a depth of 30 feet and some 20 feet, while the average is 12 feet in the business sections and 10 feet on residential streets. This amount of excavation for pipes varying in diameter from 8 inches to seven feet and extending all told for a distance of nearly 50 miles, is no small item for the pick and shovel artist.

INDIANS AS COAL MINERS

Who Said the Redskins Had no Business Ability?

In nearly every portion of Alberta the question of obtaining coal at reasonable prices is occupying the minds of the town people and farmers, and in many places is quite a serious problem. So far Glenora has not been obliged to seriously consider this question, but the day is not far distant when it will of necessity have to consider it. There has up to the present been an ample supply of coal from the mines along Bow river on the Blackfoot reservation, and with the coal found within a few miles of town north the problem should never be a very serious one, at least so far as the supply is concerned.

The price to be paid for coal, however, may become a question of moment. Already we see that the Indians are watching the coal market quite closely, and at times are holding out for prices much higher than in former years. They learn the price of coal sold by the local dealers who bring it from Edmonton, Lethbridge and other mining towns and keep their price per load as near them as possible. Fortunately however, the Indian has not the staying qualities, and when he sees several days of fine weather he weathers and sells at a much lower price. Yet in time the Indians will become wiser and have sheds built close to town, where they will hold their coal for the highest prices obtainable, and then the general householder will have to pay or suffer.

Some of our farmer friends to the north and east are also getting interested in coal mining and are in a fair way to mine coal in large quantities in the near future. These farmers are wide awake men who will go into it in a business-like manner that should augur well for the general interests of the community as well as for themselves.

The Call, however, would now offer the suggestion that the town or a number of the men most interested in the upbuilding of the town get control of a mine and develop it for the good of the community generally. This keeping coal at a fair price at all times, which would prove a boon to all concerned.—Gleichen Call.

"I owe my success to newspaper advertising"

"Newspaper advertising is the secret of my success"

The Business That Isn't Worth Advertising Isn't Worth Running

At this period of the year some business men get the idea that the advertising value of the daily paper decreases and as the holiday season draws to a close give instructions to "cut out their ad. for a while," thereby falling from the public gaze and discontinuing the solicitation of the patronage of the community.

This is not business. The readers of this paper will be reading your ad. just as conscientiously during the coming year as they have during the past month.

The successful advertiser advertises all the time. It matters not whether it is the dull season. He originates and prepares for special sales, and thus creates new business. Dull days are unknown to him. He is always looking for something that will please his customers, and tells them about it in the only logical medium—the newspapers—and the result is quick and profitable sales, all tending toward success.

The Unsuccessful

The man who never advertises is always bemoaning hard times. "No business," "Everything is dead," "Can't pay expenses," these being his daily and favorite expressions.

The real cause of this is the fact that the people do not know what these merchants have to offer. Three-fourths of the purchases that are made today are made because the attention of the shopper is called to some article that interests her and she is made to believe she must have it.

The Successful

John Wanamaker once said to a young business man who sought his advice: "I owe my success to newspaper advertising. I know that I can reach the eyes of more purchasers that way than in any other."

There is a whole business sermon in those two sentences. The secret of successful newspaper advertising is three-fold: First, in having the goods the people want; second, the price; third, the ability to attract your readers. And the way to attract them is to follow Mr. Wanamaker's advice and use the newspapers—they are your salesmen.

Mr. Wanamaker certainly must know.

One time some one asked Mr. Wanamaker why he considered the newspaper the best "puller" for the merchant. He said: "As I have spoken before, newspaper advertising is the secret of my success. Each copy is a salesman calling attention to the stock of the advertiser. How many homes are there today where the first thing they do is to look at the merchant's advertisement, whether it is the clothier, drygoods man or the furniture dealer? Let me tell you, my son, any successful advertiser in the press can answer that question, and can answer it mightily optimistically, too."

Does This Interest You

Tommy needs a new suit—is it your advertisement Mrs. Household is looking over, or is it the other man's, down the street, who lately has been forced to break ground for more space and big improvements? Sister Wants a new dress—was it your advertisement they sought? Mrs. Bargainday rushes in the house calling attention to the low-priced muslin on sale Tuesday afternoon. Whose advertisement was that? Yours?

Any kind of advertising is good, but newspaper advertising is just a little bit better.

The newspaper is the indispensable backbone of many advertising campaigns. A man buys a newspaper because he wants it. It's a necessity. Magazines or weekly papers may be a pretty essential luxury, but they can hardly be termed a necessity.

The man who finds that advertising doesn't pay is generally the one who has nothing worth selling.

ENTHUSIASTIC FOR FUTURE

Mr. Harrison in Winnipeg Commercial Tells why Edmonton's Hopes Run Strong

THE SECRET OF ITS GROWTH

And of the Confidence With Which its People Look Forward to the Years Just Ahead

Mr. A. G. Harrison writes as follows in the Winnipeg Commercial: To those acquainted with the wonderful development in recent years which has taken place in the North-West the terms "prosperous" and "Edmonton" are almost synonymous. Out in the west it is hardly possible to think of prosperity without there arising up before the mind's eye a vision of the astonishing growth, development and accession to both power and influence of the Capital City of Sunny Alberta.

What is the secret of this development—a development so thoroughly sound that during the past three years it has enabled the city to become the bull's eye of every tourist, of capitalist looking for the profitable investment of money and of every railway projected through the last great west? What is it that has lifted Edmonton from the insignificance of a little Hudson's Bay trading post to a City of national importance. What is it that has enabled a city of less than 30,000 people to join the company of great cities like Montreal, Toronto, Melbourne, Sydney, Johannesburg, etc., in the great financial centres of London, Paris and Berlin?

A reference to a good map will solve the riddle to some extent. If, gentle reader, you add Edmonton's natural location to the unbounded loyalty and faith in its citizens, the question is answered. Let us look, for just a moment at all that vast country to the north—that great land so happily termed "The Empire of the North." It is the world famed Peace River Country and there is to be found 65 millions of acres of land immensely rich in agricultural lands, in all kinds of minerals, in lumber, in fish, etc. This vast empire of tomorrow is all tributary to Edmonton, from which it must for many years to come, draw all its supplies and look to for its multitudinous necessities.

The Railway Situation
Again look at all the railways in and around Edmonton. Three years ago and the Canadian Northern had only just arrived. Today the Grand Trunk Pacific is here, the Canadian Pacific are coming as fast as they can come—and over a high level bridge that will cost more than $1,500,000 to build. These three great transcontinental lines alone make Edmonton a centre of no small importance; there are also the Edmonton, Yukon & Pacific and the Edmonton & Slave Lake. The Canadian Northern is constructing three branch lines which will open up vast stretches of land tributary to Edmonton, the Grand Trunk Pacific is busy with a branch line, work has been commenced on the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway, and will shortly be started on the Edmonton-Port Assiniboine line. Think of it—three years ago, one railway just arrived; three years hence and Edmonton will be one of the most important railway centres in the whole Dominion.

Good railway connections bring factories—Edmonton has the large Griffin packing plant representing an investment of over $1,000,000, employing over 300 men and having a capacity of nearly 5,000 head of stock per week. It has only been in operation 14 months, but this early in its career large extensions are being made in order to cope with the large volume of business offering. But the Griffin plant is by no means the only one—there are five others—smaller it is true; they too have all the business they can handle.

The Soil of the District
With packing plants established in the City it is but natural that the Edmonton district should be famous for mixed farming—experts have stated that in their opinion the Edmonton district is the finest mixed farming country on the American continent. The soil is very rich, being black loam underlain with a clay subsoil, it is well watered and partially wooded, and is for the most part underlain with a fine quality of lignite coal. Cattle, sheep and hogs are raised with great success and the presence of the packing plants already referred to guarantees a ready market. Vegetables, small fruits, together with oats, barley and wheat are also grown with success. The surrounding country being well served with railroads is thus afforded good connection with the markets of the city.

Once more, Edmonton is coming prominently before the public as an important manufacturing centre. This is only natural seeing that she possesses all the essential requisites of a good manufacturing city, namely, ample railway connections, an unlimited abundance of cheap fuel, cheap building material, unlimited water supply, cheap electrical power, a rapidly developing and progressive country in all directions and a city council which, while it does not give bonuses to induce factories to locate in the city, gives every reasonable assistance and encouragement to all bona fide concerns which may be looking for a suitable location.

So much for the past and present, but what of the future? Who is there that can write of all that will come to this wonderful young city in the years that are to be? Competent authorities declare that in a few short years, the Capital City of Alluring Alberta will be the metropolis of the Last Great West—more powerful, more vigorous and more splendid than the proverbial "Man in the street" to-day thinks possible. There are reasons—good reasons—for this sublime faith in the future. No city located as Edmonton is, in the centre of a wonderfully rich, fertile and prosperous province like Alberta, can possibly stand still; no city that is assuredly destined to become within the next few years, one of the most important railway centres of the whole Dominion, can remain stationary; no city having a monopoly of the trade for 200 miles to the north, 350 miles to the west, 250 miles to the east and 100 miles to the south, can look to the future with indifference while finally, no city that can anticipate its population in five years is more than justified in looking for—and expecting—great things in the time that has to be.

PRICKED ONE MORE BUBBLE

Egg-Tester at New York Poultry Show Came to Grief

New York, Jan. 6.—The profitable career of the automatic egg tester for determining the sex in an egg came to a sudden end at the New York Poultry, Pigeon and Pet Stock Association's show at Madison Square Garden.

Dealers in poultry goods at the other stands, who have been envious, perhaps, of the land office business the professor has been doing with his machine with many poultry exhibitors who desired to uphold the standard for fairness of the New York show, joined hands to compel a test.

The claim has been that if an egg contains a germ of the male, the cone would swing in a circle; if a pullet, laid a plate containing six eggs before the professor and asked him to test them. That the eggs had previously been boiled Brundage did not disclose.

The professor handled the machine with his accustomed deftness and the if hatched each would produce either swiftings of the cones declared that a male or female chick. A quick denunciation of the professor followed and he was ordered to close his stand and leave the place.

Ed—Scientific, or supposed to be scientific testing of eggs has occasioned a great deal of interest of late. And any old seasoned veteran poultry keeper, man or woman, who could not tell in advance what was to come out of an egg after it was hatched, has been pointed at with the finger of scorn. This is a feat that has never been accomplished and probably never will be, and one more fake on this line has gone up in smoke.

There can be little doubt that Mr. Gladstone would have regarded the consideration now before the country as of the highest and most urgent public interest.

Are Edmonton business men making enough of an effort to push their goods out into the province?

With railway lines being constructed in every direction, the city should become a great commercial centre.

But they cannot receive business by standing idle and waiting for it to pour in.

They must get after it.

To reach those outside the city, an advertising medium exists in Edmonton, which couldn't be better suited for the purpose.

The Alberta Homestead

is a provincial agricultural journal, published weekly, and going into five thousand Alberta homes.

It was established two years ago and has now made a solid place for itself among country readers. With the first of the year, its size is being increased fifty per cent. There is no doubt about it's becoming the Family Herald of the west.

The advertising rates are still low, though with the larger increases in circulation, which it is making, these must be advanced at an early date.

K. B. McKenzie, Dominion land agent, informed The Capital this morning that applications are being received daily from homesteaders in the Edmonton district for timber and hay permits. The timber permit gives the holder an opportunity to lay in a supply of firewood, fence posts, etc., during the winter months. The hay permit gives permission to cut hay on vacant land for the coming summer. "Everything looks toward a great influx of immigrants for this year," said Mr. McKenzie. "I think it will be the greatest year that the land office has yet seen."

The regular monthly report of the police department shows that in the month of December, 16 persons were apprehended or summoned for a variety of offences. The School Board meets in the Montlake Block this afternoon for the first time in the New Year. The present members of the board are Messrs. Clarke, Ramsay, Buchart, Cushing and Dr. Ferris. One important item of business will be the election of a chairman for the ensuing year.

Col. R. B. Edwards, K.C., chairman of the committee on University Extension lectures, writes to The Capital with a view to directing the attention of the public to the excellence of the lecture course. He says that there are seven remaining lectures, three to be delivered by Prof. Alexander and four by Prof. Broad. In order to afford all an opportunity to meet with the class, it has been decided to charge a fee of $1 for the remainder of the course.

"They Loved a Lassie," or "What I Know About You" is the attraction offered for this evening at the Empire by the ever-popular San Franciscans. This play is considered the best of their repertoire and should be greeted with a crowded house. For this engagement the prices are $1.00, 75 and 50 cents. Seats are selling like wildfire, so reservations should be made early.

South African warrants are still on the rise. None can be secured at less than $750, while a month or so ago they could be readily picked up at $500. Buyers have until December 31, 1910, to locate their script.

Judgment was handed out this morning in the case of Rose vs. Collison. E. B. Williams for plaintiff and N. D. Mills for defence.

The plaintiff, defendant, and two others were engaged in a game of poker. Rose was banker and gave out chips for cash. Collison used up all his ready cash and got more chips from the banker on credit. At the end of the game Collison was $115 behind, so Rose, as banker, settled up with the other two, who were both winners, giving one a promissory note and the other a verbal promise to pay, he, himself, being very little, if any, ahead on the game. Later Collison refused to pay the money, so Rose entered action. In defence, Collison, who is a doctor in Strathcona, stated that plaintiff was a professional gambler and that he (Collison) did not owe the money; later he amended the defence to read that if he did borrow the money it was used for an unlawful purpose and could not be collected through the court.

Mr. Fox is accompanied by Mrs. Fox and together they are renewing an old acquaintance with Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Bryant of Agricola, and other friends in the Edmonton district. They will proceed shortly to the coast and visit California before returning home.

Judge Taylor in summing up the evidence found that according to Rose the position of banker gave him no advantage over the others. No fee or commission was paid him, but he just acted as a convenience to the others. At the conclusion Collison promised to pay at an early date. The banker squared off the other two players, who were ahead, one getting a promissory note and the other a verbal promise to pay. Defendant later refused to pay, so plaintiff wishes to compel payment. There was no dispute over facts.

In defence Collison merely denies that he owes money. He says that if he borrowed the money it was used for an illegal purpose. Judge Taylor finds that there is no doubt the money was borrowed, but defendant alleges that plaintiff cheated in the game and the cards were marked. However, there is no evidence to substantiate this. In fact, the other players say the game was fair. The question of whether the purpose for which the money was loaned was legal or not then comes up. The game was played in a room of a hotel which was ordinarily a barber shop. The parties were playing a friendly game. The defendant states that Rose had a trunk in the room in which cards and liquor were kept, but this is not enough evidence to convict plaintiff of keeping a gambling house.

The law is fully discussed in the case Beeson vs. Beeson, 45 L. J. ex 232, which was a similar case. Judge Taylor could not find that there was any law declaring the game in question to be illegal. 12 Geo. II, chap. 38 makes certain games illegal, but poker is not one of these so mentioned. The game not being illegal, the contract to loan another money for that play cannot be illegal.

Judgment was therefore given for the plaintiff with costs.

Personal and Local.

Band at the covered rink tonight.

The extension lectures will be resumed tonight. This is the first lecture of this course since vacation. Dr. E. K. Broadus will deliver the lecture on "Shakespeare and the English Tragedy." These lectures are exceedingly popular and are very well attended.

A benefit evening for the band will be given in the "Sons Rink" on Monday night next. The proceeds are to be devoted entirely to the band. One of the chief attractions will be the catching of "Mysterious Pete" for a $1 prize. This character will skate on the rink from 8 till 9, unless captured before the expiration of the hour. An exciting evening is anticipated.

Most of the students were back to attend classes yesterday at the opening of Varsity after vacation. They came prepared for the stiff term's work which lies before them.

It will contain in the neighborhood of twenty-five pages, and will be devoted to general college news. The name has not yet been definitely decided upon, but it will be one that is distinctively western. The paper should command a large circulation.

Hockey.

The hockey team of the University had a hard work-out yesterday afternoon. Three of the regulars were conspicuous by their absence, Beck, Taylor and Brown. The boys worked hard for the full hour and showed very good form. This is the last practice before the game on Friday night. This game is attracting a great deal of attention as it will be an indication as to which team will win the series. The line probably will be as follows:

Referee—D. C. Rait.

The hockey team had a splendid turnout last night. Over two hundred were out. Among the old players were Rait, McLeod, Hermonston and others. There will be plenty of material to pick from for the league games. The league schedule should be arranged soon.
